New apartments in an attractive location.

A new access road leads into the underground parking area. The complex will be heated with pellets, while a built-in solar installation will ensure a direct hot water supply. This sustainable construction project by Goidinger Bau sets a new standard for modern living in an attractive location.

Impressions

Image notes

1

Life in the sun in Strengen.

These new accommodation units, facing the south and south-west, are bathed in sunlight.

2

Well-equipped for attractive living.

A modern housing complex with an environmentally-friendly energy concept is being erected on this sunny slope.
